It's the little things we do that make a big difference

Fulfilling lives

You want to work in the care sector because you're a born carer. You want to make a difference to people's lives. When you join Care UK, you become part of a culture where residents' well-being is at the heart of everything we do. You'll be given the time and freedom to care, to build relationships and find ways to make our residents lives more fulfilling.

Fulfilling careers

At Care UK, our homes have a real family feel. We work together, supporting each other in an open, honest way. We give you all the support, training and development you need to fulfil your ambition.

Experienced nurse?

Lacey and May

Lacey's an experienced nurse. She's also our clinical lead. And while she leads the work of our chef, carers and local GP, she gets a fuller clinical view of residents like May, who used to be a nurse herself – by making time to really get to know her.

Letting nurses care and putting them in charge is one of the things we do to make life more fulfilling – for our residents and our nurses.

Enjoy more time to be a nurse

You're a dedicated, experienced nurse, looking for a new challenge. You like the idea of working for a company that gives you more time to care and the freedom to build relationships with patients. You want more responsibility, while still using your nursing skills.

When you join Care UK, you become part of a forward-looking, growing care provider. We develop your nursing expertise with quality training. And we offer clear career paths, so you can progress quickly into senior roles.

Care UK at a glance

- Be part of one of the UK's leading care providers
- Have more time to care
- Develop specialist skills in dementia and palliative care
- Open up your career options, e.g. into management or clinical governance
- Join a highly professional, close-knit care home team

Expert training and support

As a nurse, you'll receive ongoing training through our own Learning Academy. This will help you further develop your clinical skills with additional specialist training, for example, in areas such as dementia care. You'll also have the opportunity to develop your management and leadership skills. We give you the freedom to shape your training around your career goals.

Leadership and management opportunities

It's really up to you how far and where you go. With Care UK, there's a lot of flexibility. And if you show commitment, we'll help you reach your potential.

Supportive culture

You'll join a highly professional care team made up of carers, other nurses and support staff such as chefs. You'll also work closely with outside professionals such as GPs and physiotherapists.

So, for example, you might talk to the chef about addressing a resident's nutritional needs. Or you might liaise with the local GP to discuss medication. It's a really varied, rewarding role where nurses take the lead.
